Server Migration

Textile Business

The challenge

A textile specialty company contacted navitend's business development group with a need around a server upgrade. They had an existing quote from a vendor to perform the migration, however there were a number of warning signs that made them uneasy with the vendor.

What we did

navitend executed the required server migration, minimizing downtime and cost for this client.

The result

This navitend client has an improved, stable computer network and is enjoying the confidence that comes with having a competent and responsive IT partner.
